Overview

Growing your business sustainably. Protecting the bottom line.

Our education program focuses on critical paths of professional development.

We currently offer a project management training course, focused on increasing and preserving margin, and a sales management course that supports business growth by helping the dealer create both a selling organization and a culture of accountability.

The Solomon Coyle team is also available for presentations and workshops for which we will customize topics to your organization's needs and interests.

To learn more about how we can help keep your organization up to speed with the latest techniques, processes and tools, please contact us.
